

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

1.) Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law has improved my life by reducing the number of wasted trips to the telephone. One one trip I slipped and fell down the steps. When I picked up the phone in the basement it was an unwanted call. I was not injured during this fall but you can see the potential safety concerns avoided.

2.) I used to receive about 19 calls per week, now I only receive two.

3.) This law is valuable to my privacy because I do not want strangers calling me. I pay the phone bill and thus having a telephone is being financed by my money. The telephone marketer should not be allowed to use my phone bill money to advance his profits. I am paying for the service of the phone. I should not have to answer a call from someone that I did not give my number to. It is my number because I have purchased it for the month.

Thank you
